

Kukuza Cannabis Solution

Raise the bar on your cannabis business with great finance. Companies racing for success need a solid finance and accounting framework to provide timely, consistent and complete information to make smart day to day decisions and provide insights for strategic decisions.

Pain Points:

- Most cannabis companies lack a solid finance framework to support their rapid growth
- Clear, timely financials are essential for smart business decisions and readiness for strategic changes
- From cultivators to retail, all cannabis companies are navigating an uncertain and complex market, with evolving regulations and heightened competition
- Companies will miss out on opportunities if they don't fully fund their dreams, understand their financial position, and make the right moves to optimize their valuation
- In a fast-moving market, companies going it alone without strategic partners will fail

Solution:

- Undergo a rapid diagnostic review to swiftly uncover gaps in finance and other key operational processes in your company, and prescribe action steps to address them
- Build an outsourced finance team of strategic level finance expertise and day-to-day accounting support
- Bring predictability to the business with timely and accurate financials, planning and forecasting, cash management, cost accounting and inventory tracking
- Strategic finance support on scenario building for optimizing fundraising, capital uses and growth

Benefits:

- Well managed and professional finance operations is foundational to your success
- Management can focus on the core business—not accounting matters
- Define optimal capital needs and optimize how to invest in the business
- Reliable finance reports to support today's operations and strategic decision-making
- Be ready for future opportunities for mergers, acquisitions or other strategic opportunities
- Access to an ecosystem of go-to partners with HR, legal, tax, banking, marketing expertise

A professional finance solution propels cannabis companies to the next level. Make strategic choices for growth, fuel your fundraising, and build your capabilities with the help of our savvy finance pros.

Go ahead, be wildly successful. Companies with their finances set up right can accelerate, attract funding and grow like weeds.
